 Pre-departure Checks Completed: YES Time of Departure: 10:30AM Time of Arrival: 12 PM
 Weather, Wind, and Sea Conditions: sunny, 15 kts, gusty, 2ft seas

Events and Highlights of the Day The day began with Kristen, the mate of the day, playing everyone's favorite Irish jig. We all got up pretty quickly this morning because we were excited to practice our jibes on the way to Little Harbor. Plus, we had heard that the beach on Sandy Cay was beautiful! Jen and Heather made an awesome egg and cheese casserole for breakfast. After that we got underway and Will and Eric taught a hilarious lesson on Bernoulli's Principle. We thought the exciting part of our sail was over, but a pod of dolphins came up at the end and escorted us into the harbor! And as for the beach, it was even more BEAUTIFUL than everyone had said.

Events and Highlights of the Day Today we woke up early and ate a variety of breakfast foods including yogurt, banana and cereal. After finishing the morning chores the divers left to take a review quiz and organize their gear. Meanwhile everyone else had a lunch hour and ate ice cream. After the divers returned we ate dinner and cleaned up. It was kind of a slow day but we still enjoyed ourselves.

Events and Highlights of the Day Today we left the dock and had our first sail. we left Hodges-Creek Marina in Tortola and went to Cooper Island. The divers did their confined water dives 1-3. They said it was boring. We all took our swim tests today and everyone passed!! Then we had lunch and went to shore to hang out. we had ice cream, did water sports and went on the poparazzi. we then had fun on kayaks and then headed back to the boat. we took our first ocean showers and had lots of fun. Then we had dinner, stir fry, which was good, but there wasn't enough meat. we later went to shore again for an ice cream/dessert social, but there was no ice cream. Everyone had coconut pie and I wanted to die because of the smell. Then we had a great boat meeting and headed to bed.
Today our crew did a great job of cleaning up after dinner.
We need to work on turning the lights off.

Events and Highlights of the Day Today we had a late wakeup and sailed from Cooper Island to Little Harbour Peter Island. Before we left we had apple oat crumble and a quick dip in the ocean. It was our first sail as a full group and I was the skipper. The sail was great but Brynn's car almost fell off due to Frank falling on her. We finally arrived at Little Harbour Peter Island and jumped in, listened to music and snorkled. We then had 40 kids on the boat for a cannon ball competition. Carson won and shook the entire boat. Afterwards, we hiked up to an abandoned hotel, where Chloe got brutally attacked by a cactus. Then, Brynn, Maya, Sofia and I danced on the boat, we all showered and Carson and Sophia made the best dinner ever and we went night swimming, saw Bioluminescents and saw massive stingray and all thought we saw a shark.

Events and Highlights of the Day Today we woke up to the smell of Andrew making breakfast sandwiches and TOASTED bagels. The rest of the divers and I left and our first open water dive was completed. Sadly, Liz could not equalize which lead to her missing the dives. The non divers set sail and we met up with them for lunch. The divers went back to finish the last two confined dives where the creation of "cold and confused" was created. Later in the day we went on a hike to a heli pad which had an amazing view and where Chris won in a huge round of rock paper scissors. We came back to the boat and took showers and had a photo shoot. We ate pasta and had our meeting.

Events and Highlights of the Day today we sailed from Norman to Scrubs. I was the skipper and we sailed very good under my great leadership. Easier because we were short of crew because the divers left early before we went. It was a long 3 hour sail but we made it. We cleaned the boat then we got our phones and called our families and friends. Then we went to the pool and hot tub which it was very nice. Then we took a fresh water shower after 6 days of ocean showers. Then we went to a very expensive dinner, then boat meeting.

Events and Highlights of the Day Today we woke up on the docks at Scrub Island. For breakfast we made breakfast sandwiches and ate some fruit. We walked around the resort bought some sandwiches, ice cream, and hung out in the pool for a little. We set sail at about 11:30 and the waters were abit rough. The sail took about 3 hours, and half of it we were tilted sideways because of the tough storms. When we arrived we caught the morning ball right away unlike some people. We enjoyed getting stung in the water during showers and failed tubing attempts. As we waited for dinner we got bored and ate lots of snacks (chilanos, chitos, chips & mysterious dip), we ended up waiting a little longer then expected (4 hours) but learned and hugh through a few things: Liz makes really good chicken noises, Brynn has an interesting "Seal" noise, Carson cant laugh, Chris... and frank makes some DANK food. We finished off the day craving coor (mostly me) and had a fun boat meeting.

Events and Highlights of the Day We woke up and had a breakfast that consisted of bagels, cereal, and oatmeal. We went to shore and enjoyed everything that the little resort had to offer. We watched the World Cup Finals where France won 4-2. (I called it!) When the game ended, we set sail for George Dog Island, where we dropped anchor for the day. At the island, we cooked chili for the annual chili cookoff. Jen told us Gordon Ramsay was going to be a ~~surprise~~ surprise judge for the cookoff and I almost cried and had a panic attack, but I later found out that it was just Andrew. At the end of the day, we played Hot Seat, and learned a lot about Frank and the crazy town in New Mexico that his girlfriend lives in.

Events and Highlights of the Day This morning for breakfast we did the usual: breakfast buffet in the cockpit. After breakfast I walked upstairs to every single person in the boat scattered and sleeping in a random spot on the deck, naturally I joined them. After a 45 minute group-nap we began our pre-departure checks and started our sail. I was skipper + steered the boat all the way to docks at Oil Nut Bay. When we arrived we did a full boat clean and after a few failed attempts finally passed Arter's boat inspection and got a half hour with our phones. We took a ferry to a resort and spent a few hours in the pools, at the bar (virgin drinks only), in the ocean snorkeling, and doing water sports. When we came back to our boats we showered and put on some flash tattoos. To end the night we had an unofficial dance battle w/ the younger kids +
obviously beat them.
 Today our crew did a great job of Beating 11 year olds in a dance battle.

Events and Highlights of the Day We woke up to pots and pans banging.
Thanks, Chris.

At 7:30, the captain, Navigator, and mate headed to Stopp boat and were debriefed by Beta and our Fleet captain, Arthur. We come back to fresh pancakes.

After breakfast, we planned dedocking. Our plan was approved, so I took helm and we got off the oil nut docks.

After 15 miles we pulled into Marina Key. We moored on our second pass.

At 3:30 there was an ocean trash pickup.

We made dinner, portied, and had our boat meeting.

The night ended with a conspiracy theory talk.

Events and Highlights of the Day Today we woke up at 7:00 for the sailing competition which was at 8:45 but later got changed to 9:30 due to bad communication. We started in last place but due to our good spirits and a great captain we got 2nd place which was shocking. We all sat in the gunnels to even out the boat which showed our teamwork and it was overall just fun. When we got to Long bay we ate fried rice and then went to shore and participated in the Olympics which went well and we got to bury Jen as a starfish.
We played beach volleyball and did water sports
